Campus Director - IntelliTec College in Grand Junction

Cheryl Morris began her career with IntelliTec College as Campus Director in Grand Junction in June of 2015. She is new to the Grand Junction area and loves her new hometown. Her belief - that education is one of the most important gifts we can give back to society - is the basis for her drive and passion for higher education. She looks forward to further integrating herself and the IntelliTec Campus into the Grand Junction community with the goal of making a positive impact.

Morris has served in the higher education industry for over 30 years. Her initial career path involved Federal Financial Aid, where she served as Assistant Director of Compliance for Northeastern State University in Tahlequah, Oklahoma. While in that role she was instrumental in partnering with Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education to develop streamlined funds delivery.

She later transferred her skills and knowledge to the private vocational school sector. Serving as Campus Director in Tulsa and Oklahoma City, she positively impacted many students. She was successful in managing personnel, fiscal affairs, educational offerings, compliance, student satisfaction and property management to create a successful and positive campus environment. Later she was promoted to Denver where she worked for Weston Education as National Director of Campus Management providing direction and support for over 10 campuses.
